At the heart of Washed Ashore lies the visionary artist, Angela Haseltine Pozzi. Driven by a deep-rooted compassion for the environment, Angela embarks on coastal cleanups, collecting discarded plastic debris that would otherwise suffocate our marine ecosystems.

Through her artistic lens, Angela transforms these discarded materials into breathtaking sculptures, installations, and educational exhibits. Her creations transcend mere aesthetics, becoming poignant symbols that provoke thought, inspire action, and raise awareness about the devastating impact of plastic pollution.

Masterpieces From the Deep

The art of Washed Ashore is as diverse as the ocean itself. Angela's sculptures range from towering sea turtles to playful jellyfish, each piece meticulously crafted from colorful plastic fragments. These marine creatures, once symbols of endangered wildlife, are reborn as beacons of hope, reminding us of the fragility of our oceans and the urgent need for change.

Beyond sculptures, Washed Ashore also includes immersive installations and educational exhibits. These interactive experiences transport viewers into the heart of the problem, shedding light on the sources, effects, and solutions to plastic pollution. Through her art, Angela empowers audiences to become active advocates for ocean conservation.
